SANPANCRAZIO

Winery in the heart of Southern Italy

Founded in 1961 by fourteen local growers, Cantine San Pancrazio is a cooperative winery rooted in the agricultural tradition of the Salento peninsula, in southern Puglia. Today, the winery continues to represent the work and passion of local winegrowers, combining tradition with modern winemaking techniques.

Over the years, Cantine San Pancrazio has invested in innovation to improve quality, earning recognition in national and international wine competitions.

The winery focuses mainly on native grape varieties such as Negroamaro, Primitivo, Malvasia Nera, Fiano, Malvasia Bianca and other important grape varieties producing authentic wines that reflect the character of the territory.

Cantine San Pancrazio offers a wide range of wines for the Ho.Re.Ca. channel, wine shops and international markets, from fresh and easy-drinking styles to more structured and elegant selections.
